	Examiner CATHERINE N. WITCZAK	Art Unit 3767

-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 11/10/09 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

1. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Burton et al (US 2004/0193068) as modified by Feldman et al (US 5,626,140).

Burton et al disclose a system and a method of using said system comprising two or more health monitor devices having different operating principles that generate signals reflecting a similar physiological condition, at least two of the monitor devices providing orthogonally redundant information regarding at least one physiological condition (paragraph [0003]); a user interface (paragraph [0144]); a drug delivery controller (paragraph [0219]); one or more effectors (paragraph [0002]) for ensuring patient safety and clinician awareness; and a controller including parameters of at least one monitored condition

Art Unit: 3767

(paragraph [0026]); wherein the controller compares the monitor signals to control the effector based on the results of the comparison and in accordance with the parameters.

Burton et al disclose the claimed invention except for disclosing the controller determining whether the monitored data is reliable by determining if the monitors are in agreements, wherein some the monitor devices are ascribed point values as to at least one their importance and accuracy in monitoring a patient parameter. Feldman et al teach in column 1, line 12- column 2, line 6 that it is known to employ a system and method for sensor fusion using multiple physiological sensors monitoring the same physiological condition using a system of analyzing the sensor readings which accounts for variability and error in the readings using confidence levels. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the device and method of Burton et al with the teachings of Feldman et al since such a modification would help ensure that the control signals being generated were based on as accurate of a representation of a patient's physiological state as possible.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
